BY TELEGRAPH.

Noon Dispatches.

WASHINGTON, February 26.—The Senate, on the motion of Mr. Harlan, non-concurred in the House amendments to the bill appropriating $150,000 for the temporary relief of the destitute population of the District of Columbia.

Mr. Wilson called up the bill to provide for the sale, by the Secretary of War, of lands, tenements and water privileges belonging to the United States at or near Harper's Ferry. The Committee on Military affairs recommended an amendment donating certain portions of the lands to the college chartered by West Virginia. The amendment was agreed to and the bill passed.

The President, in course of reply to the delegation of citizens of Maryland, who waited on him to-day, to present resolutions relative to the rights of American citizens abroad, said: "I shall not attempt on set terms or set phrases to respond to the remarks which you have made in reference to the condition of affairs at present agitating the public mind. The presentation of such kind sentiments and encouragement which they give, constrain me, however, to say that they afford me a gratification which words are inadequate to express. Such assurances at this time give me strength and courage in the fierce conflict which now prevails around us. Pointing you to the past, as an index of what my future conduct will be, I beg of you to feel that in an honest effort to faithfully discharge the high and important duties imposed on me by the Constitution and the laws, I will consider no personal sacrifice too great for me to bear. Such a great principle cannot be compared with the great object attained, that of preserving the principles of our republic by a strict adherence to the Constitution and the laws made in accordance with its provisions. God being willing, I will perform my duty, let the consequences be what they may. From my advent in public life, now some thirty years ago, to the present time, I have passed through many ordeals in my struggle for the interests of the people, and never have I for a moment swerved from the straight line of duty. I can sincerely declare there has never been an occasion when, having been assigned to duty, I have abandoned my post. I rely now, as in the past, upon the intelligence and patriotism of the American people, who, I believe, will come to all their height in strength to rescue the country, and save it from the destruction which now seems to threaten its ruin. My faith in the American people is strong and abiding. I have never betrayed them, nor do I believe now, that they would betray me. I will continue to engulf the land, they will desert or abandon one who, in their cause, is engaged in an earnest struggle for the preservation of constitutional liberty and for the supremacy of civil authority. Again I thank you, gentlemen, for this encouragement, and assure you that so long as the vital current continues to warm and animate my existence, and memory holds its place, this occasion will be remembered and cherished."

Doolittle read in the Senate, from Gen. Grant, contain the following telegrams:

WASHINGTON, August 3, 1867.

To Major-General John Pope:

Sir: I think your views are sound, both in the construction which you give to the laws of Congress and to the duties of supporters of a good government, tasse that when reconstruction is effected no loop-hole is left open to give trouble and embarrassment thereafter. It is certainly the duty of district commanders to study well the framers of the reconstruction laws wanted to express, and to execute the laws according to that interpretation. This, I believe, they have generally done; and, so far, have the approval of all who approve the Congressional plan of reconstruction.

(Signed) U. S. GRANT, General.

On the 22d of December last, Gen. Grant telegraphed to Gen. Pope as follows: "The Constitution, adopted by the Conventions now in session are not the laws of the States until submitted to the people and voted by them. I do not see, therefore, how you can enforce a law enacted by them until so ratified."

Gen. Grant, January 10th, telegraphed to Gen. Meade approving the latter's conduct in removing the State Treasurer of Georgia, for not obeying the orders of the Constitutional Convention; also the following: "I would not interfere with the elections ordered by the Atlanta Convention, unless very satisfactory reasons exist for doing so. As District Commander you will be perfectly justifiable in adopting as your own order the stay laws proposed in the Constitution to be submitted to the people of Alabama and Georgia."

The State Department has received a letter from Anson Burlingame, detailing the circumstances of his appointment as Chinese Ambassador to the treaty powers. All the facts have already been published.

The committee of seven appointed to prepare articles of impeachment were in session all this afternoon, and it is said have examined Gen. Emory to ascertain whether the President made effort to garrison Washington the day subsequent to his purposes. Adjutant-Gen. Thomas was also examined in reference to the President's order to him, directing that he take possession of the War Department.

Under the new arrangement with the Dominion of Canada, postage on international letters will be reduced, on and after the first of April, to six cents per single rate when prepaid; otherwise, ten cents.

ATLANTA, February 26.—The Convention to-day adopted Section 32 of the bill of rights. It allows the exemption from execution of a homestead of actual worth $1,000, and personal property to the amount of $1600 in specie.

A motion to adjourn sine die on the 7th of March was lost.

A resolution that mechanics and laborers shall have liens upon the property of employers prevailed.

The removal of the capital to Atlanta was warmly discussed. The vote will be taken to-morrow.

RALEIGH, February 27.—The Convention yesterday spent most of its session in personal explanations.

The State Radical Convention to nominate candidates under the new Constitution met yesterday.

Ex-Gov. Holden was nominated for Governor, and Col. Heaton for Congress from the Newbern district.

Hendricks offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That no person shall receive from this Convention a nomination on the State ticket who is disqualified to hold office, either by the reconstruction act of Congress, or by the 14th article of the Constitution of the United States.

Hendricks urged the passage of the resolution on the ground that reconstruction should be in the hands of those who did not need to be pardoned for participating in the rebellion, and that the laws and Constitution of the United States were in force in North Carolina. The friends of Holden, who is disqualified under the laws for his prominent participation in the war, refused to entertain the resolution and it was laid on the table.

Capt. Lee, the Holden candidate for Sheriff of Wake county, virtually moved to expel Hendricks from the Convention for offering this resolution; but at the instance of Col. Heaton, the matter was dropped.

GENERAL ITEMS.

—Corbussier, charged with arson at St. Louis, was found guilty and sentenced to six years in the penitentiary. He was a wig-maker and had secured a large insurance on his stock. He was intimate with a young man named Julian Hautbine, a sign painter, to whom he owed a small amount of money, and he selected this young man as his instrument and victim. He procured a can of naptha, placed it in a close room, and so arranged it that the can would leak, and the room would be filled with the combustible fumes. Giving Hautbine the key to this room, he requested him to meet him there at a certain hour, and instructed him to go to the room and wait for him and to be careful to lock the door. Corbussier then went into the country, so that when the anticipated explosion occurred, and the young man was burnt up in the conflagration, he could prove an alibi and avert suspicion from himself. At the appointed hour, Hautbine went to the room, locked himself in, and finding that Corbussier had not arrived, proceeded to strike a light. The flame of the match ignited the gas from the naptha, and a loud explosion followed. Hautbine would inevitably have perished had he not, in the moment of consternation, thrown himself out of the window, falling upon a shed some twenty feet below, and severely injuring himself. He was found mangled and bruised, and in answer to questions as to the origin of the fire, stated that he had been the cause of it. Subsequently he related the particulars of his connection with Corbussier, and the wig-maker was arrested and tried.

—The business houses of Hace Howard and James Wright, at Paris, Tenn., were broken open on Thursday night. Nothing has been missed, though no doubt the burglar helped himself to a liberal supply of whisky. This is the second time Mr. Howard's house has been forced

—Many of the hotels built in Pit-hole, Pennsylvania, during her palmy days, have been pulled down and removed. One of them, built at an expense of $80,000, was recently sold for $500.

THE REIGN OF UNREASON.

The Cincinnati Gazette, a Radical Journal, has had the manliness and good sense to speak as follows of the dangerous precedent set by its party. It foresees that the time may come, and that right shortly, when the edge of so mischievous a precedent may be turned against the faction that now holds it by the hilt. The day may come when a man will be deemed unfit to sit in Congress, who voted for the Reconstruction Acts, on the ground that he laboured to subvert the Constitution:

The opposition of Republican Senators to the admission of Philip F. Thomas as Senator from Maryland is upon the ground often put forth by Acting President Johnson, that Congress can refuse admission to any member who has been disloyal, under the Constitutional power of each House "to judge of the elections, returns and qualifications of its own members." This is a false and pernicious view of the Constitution. It would place it in the power of a bare majority to exclude members at their discretion, whereas the Constitution requires a vote of two-thirds to expel a member. Each House is the judge of the legality of the elections of its members, and of their qualifications; but in this it cannot add anything to the qualifications laid down by the Constitution.

This is the ground we laid down when the admission of members from rebel districts began to be talked of. Mr. Johnson has often asserted that each House has this power, and that, therefore, they need take no care for the manner of reconstruction, for they can keep on rejecting members until the South elects such as will suit. But it is a doctrine subversive of the Constitution, and that gives the legislative body the power to limit its number at its pleasure. If the constituency are legally entitled to elect a Senator or Representative, and if either House finds that that constituency has elected a member in due form, then the only qualifications the House can inquire into whether, in the case of a Representative, he has the qualifications of an elector of the most numerous branch of the State Legislature, whether he is twenty-five years of age, and been a citizen of the United States seven years, and was, when elected, a citizen of the State; or, in the case of a Senator, whether he is thirty years of age, has been nine years a citizen, and is an inhabitant of the State from which he is chosen.

This is the extent of the power of each House to judge the qualifications of members. If the State of Mississippi were to elect Jefferson Davis Senator, or Virginia Robert E. Lee, the Senate, if it admitted the competency of those States to elect Senators at all, would have to admit these men. It could not exclude them by a mere act of legislation. If a member should commit acts of treason after his election, either House might legally expel him for it by the concurrence of two-thirds. It might, it is true, by such a vote expel him without cause; but it could not properly go behind his election to inquire into previous acts. Constitution and law suppose some other way of punishing traitors than by declaring them to, and rejecting them from Congress.

Nevertheless, since these paragraphs were written, the deed has been done. Senator THOMAS has been rejected by the Senate as disloyal at the commencement of the war. The National Intelligencer thus speaks of the action of the Senate:

The act of the Senate yesterday rejecting Mr. Philip F. Thomas, who a few months since was elected to that body by the Legislature of the State of Maryland, constitutes one of the grossest and most daring outrages ever perpetrated in the history of the Government. If these things can be done, no State in the Union is safe. It was but as that yesterday New Jersey was stricken down in the person of Mr. Stockton, and now two Radical Senators misrepresent the voice of her people. To-day it is Maryland that suffers under the malignant vengeance of this party. Any person of a gentleman of lofty and unsullied honor, admitted abilities, and a record in which studious malice has not been able to find a flaw or a blot. There is not a man in the land, of sufficient intelligence, to read a newspaper, who does not know that if Mr. Thomas had come forward as the ally and accomplice of the Radical faction, the doors of the Senate would have flown open at his approach. Had he chosen so to do, he could, he might have taken a seat among the notorious ex-secessionists, like Stokes and Logan, who are now leaders of this so-called "loyal party."

We are glad to be able to state that a number of the most prominent and able of the Republican Senators protested, by speech and vote, against this last outrage. Mr. Trumbull, Mr. Fessenden, Mr. Howe, Mr. Grimes, Mr. Frelinghuysen, Mr. Ross, Mr. Williams, Mr. Cole, Mr. Fowler and Mr. Anthony, from under the trammels of party, and, looking solely to their consciences and constitutional duty as Senators, repelled with a just contempt the flimsy sophistries and demagogue appeals by which this outrage was vainly sought to be excused. We are sorry there were not more Senators willing to act thus honestly and independently. Small as was the number, however, they furnish much the larger portion of the intellect and ability of that side of the Senate. If they were overborne by numbers and a party malignity which only stops to ask if a man be a Democrat to hunt for pretenses to cover his expulsion.

Never were a series of objections shown to be more completely frivolous and groundless than those assigned against Mr. Thomas. The act of the majority leaves nothing in doubt as to its motive. On the future it throws a broad and clear light. Thus now we know what they have to expect from the hands of this faction. Power they mean to retain at any and all costs. Already the doctrine that the right shall prevail has become with them an obsolete idea, and the only insolence which a Radical Congress is willing seriously to consider is, how a minority may perpetuate its power by the organization and disorganization of States, the forcing in of Territories, the disfranchisement of half a million, and even more, of voters, and lastly, as we now see, the disfranchisement of one of the oldest States in the Union—a State constant in its adherence to the Union.

It is a very serious consideration for the people of America whether they will endure or resist this fraud and violence. Sooner or later they must make up their minds to yield finally to this usurpation, or put it down, at whatever cost. This action of the Senate is proof, if any were needed, that the people cannot too soon begin to resolve upon the course they intend to pursue, if they would preserve their liberties.

GEORGIA.

—Sergeant Bates, the walker with the United States flag, was expected in Columbus on Monday last, where he would probably be handsomely entertained.

—Speaking of the late Radical Convention, the Columbus Sun of the 22d tells what the show costs: "The tax which this county will be compelled to pay for the great immoral exhibition now showing in Atlanta, amounts to ten thousand dollars. Just think of that! ten thousand dollars for a poor, one-horse wagon (and that horse spotted.) The kangaroo killed and the clown kicked out."

—Judge O. A. Bull, formerly of the Supreme Court, died in La Grange on the 9th instant.

—Two negroes, named Jake and Henry Walker, and a white boy, named James Andrew, were arrested at Columbus on the 21st for robbing a couple of stores of a considerable amount of goods. They were indicted the next day, and were afterwards tried, convicted and sentenced to the penitentiary for life—a long term but short work!

—The Republican, of Augusta, announces the death of Aaron H. Jones, of that place.

LOUISIANA.

—The Concordia Intelligencer of the 21st says: "Reports from Tensas are, that considerable activity is being shown by planters on the river; they seem determined to make an effort to recover a part of what they have lost." The same paper says: "From a gentleman who has had the opportunity of acquainting himself on the same subject, we learn that the destitution among the people, white and black, on both sides of the river from Memphis down, is terrible. Plantations are laid waste, their owners having left for other parts, on account of not being able to subsist themselves. The picture he draws is heartrending." And again: "A few planters have commenced work, but as a general thing, but little planting will be done in Concordia parish this year."

—Agents have been for several days engaged in taking up the bodies of Federals buried at Vidalia. Up to the 19th instant they had disinterred one hundred and fifty.

—Egyptian corn seems to be growing in favor in this State and Texas. We do not know what are its peculiar merits—probably adapted to the climate.

—Many of the hotels built in Pit-hole, Pennsylvania, during her palmy days, have been pulled down and removed. One of them, built at an expense of $80,000, was recently sold for $500.

ARKANSAS.

[Occasional Correspondence of the Memphis Appeal.]

PINE BLUFF, ARK., February 17, 1868.

Editors Memphis Appeal:

Jefferson county held an enthusiastic mass meeting at this place yesterday, establishing the Democratic or white man's party, appointing twenty-five delegates to the State Democratic Convention at Little Rock on the 27th inst., and passed a set of resolutions, which will be forwarded to you as early as possible, and to which your attention is particularly invited, as well as to the proceedings on the occasion.

In all directions an earnest enthusiasm and unity are manifested that leaves no doubt with us that the free negro constitution will be voted down when its day shall arrive.

It now seems that a scandalous robbery of the Treasury of Arkansas has been committed under an order of Gen. Ord's. He removed the worthy Treasurer of Arkansas, appointed a subaltern military officer (a Radical) to be his successor, and then ordered him to take $100,000 of it and invest it in United States bonds; thereupon this officer, claiming to be no longer a military but a civil officer, which he is now as well and heartily as ever, who was he? He, I give you this, my certificate, hoping you will publish it, that thousands of elders who may be afflicted with any of the above affections may at once get a bottle of your "Queen Bess," for I feel sure they will find immediate relief.

MRS. JACKSON'S
Queen Bess Complexion Wash.

THE following certificates, selected from hundreds in the possession of the proprietress, are confidently submitted to the public:

MRS. WOLCOTT'S CERTIFICATE.

QUINCY, Ill., November 5, 1866.

MRS. JACKSON, Dear Madam—It is with pleasure that I certify to you, that seeing one of your circulars, which contained certificates and indorsements from the best physicians and the highest medical authorities of the United States, certifying that your oils for the complexion and teeth were purely the oils, extracts and essences of flowers, and they warrant it when used according to directions to cure the worst and most difficult cases of running, sore mouth, canker of the stomach, dyspepsia and dyspepsia. For scrofulous disorders, when used both internally and externally, it has no equal. Mrs. Jackson, seeing this, and my little daughter, aged fifteen months, having the whooping cough for several months, and connected with what the doctors call white canker, her mouth and throat being terribly ulcerated, and having tried everything for its relief I could think of, all to no purpose, I bought one bottle of your oil for the complexion, called "Queen Bess," according to the directions, and it took use quite one bottle, and I am most happy to state to you that it has cured my child. She is now as well and hearty as ever she was in her life. I give you this, my certificate, hoping you will publish it, that thousands of elders who may be afflicted with any of the above affections may at once get a bottle of your "Queen Bess," for I feel sure they will find immediate relief.

Yours respectfully,

cases—that is, cases of all classes, without exception, and independently of legislation—which arise "out of the execution" of certain statutes of Congress; also, to "repeal all laws" which are now in force authorizing a writ of error or appeal in any such cases. What is the effect of such a "repeal?" If the laws now in force, authorizing appeals and writs of error to the Supreme Court in the multitudinous variety of cases which may arise out of the execution of the reconstruction acts, are to be repealed, there would hardly remain any sort of a case in any part of the country which could be appealed or brought up for any kind of review. The appellate jurisdiction of the Supreme Court would be demolished at a blow.

There is nothing that has been productive of more mischief than that hasty and improvident legislation, even when devoid of malice and wicked intention, which makes sweeping changes and novel and ill-considered provisions of law, in order to remedy some real or supposed grievance, or to effect some purpose at the moment deemed necessary. How infinitely worse, how inexpressibly wicked it is, to propose broadly destructive and anarchical enactments, that will surely disturb the whole course of justice and muddy all its waters, in order to prevent the consideration by the Court of the unconstitutionality of particular Statutes. Congress cannot enact, as Mr. TRUMBULL knew, that the Supreme Court should not, in any case whatever, of which it might obtain jurisdiction, and in which the rights of the parties should depend on the solution of the question, declare the reconstruction acts unconstitutional. It could not thus directly withdraw from the Court the question of their unconstitutionality; but it endeavours to do it by indirection, by providing that it shall have no jurisdiction of any cases arising out of the execution of these Statutes. It cannot enact that the Court shall retain the cases and refrain from deciding the questions arising in them; but it enacts that when the questions are found to arise, they shall dismiss the cases, and that in such cases no appeal or writ of error shall lie. The law cannot then do that indirectly which it cannot do directly. The Intelligencer asks Mr. TRUMBULL these questions:

"How does he expect to repeal a law under which a given cause of action may be appealed either from the North or from the South so as to have the right of appeal to subsist for the Northern case while abolished for the Southern case, the cases being the same—for example, a habeas corpus for caption and detention by a military officer? Mr. Trumbull knows that he cannot make a law which is in force, or not, according to locality, except where local applicability is a part of the law, and, therefore, he must know that this bill is not a bill to 'define jurisdiction in certain cases,' but to exclude jurisdiction from certain localities. If Congress has power to repeal so much of the laws in force to bring up cases to the Supreme Court as are operative in the State of Massachusetts, without repealing each law as a whole, they may have power thus to 'define jurisdiction;' if not, then not."

And it says, in stinging words:

Mr. Trumbull's motion to dismiss the McCardle case for want of jurisdiction, having been argued with the poor effect inherent in the false and odious theory of his side of the controversy, he flies from the presence of the judges to the committee room, and concocts this scheme for compelling them to injustice. We marvel at the hardihood which could support that lawyer before that bench hereafter. The rejected sophistries of a detestable cause in court are collected from the froth of a feeble and noisy effort, and framed into the solemn form of that law to which the venerable judges have ever bowed with reverence.

We take it, that JEREMIAH BLACK, one of the few really great men of the nation, is the author of the article from which we are quoting. We cannot, we think, mistake the flexible vigour and nervous energy, and eloquent scorn of his style. It would be presumptuous in us to substitute our words for his. He says:

Mr. Trumbull proposes to enact that the courts of the United States shall be bound by the acts of Congress on political questions; that the question whether a State is a State is a political question under the Constitution; that the several excluded States are not States, etc. This is the plain effect of his bill. How does Mr. Trumbull know the difference between a political and a judicial question? Did he ascertain that distinction from act of Parliament or the statutes at large of the United States, or from any legislative act? Doubtless Mr. Trumbull knows the distinction. Who taught it to him? If he is asked in debate on this measure to demonstrate his distinction, what kind of authority will he cite? If courts had not always, and pre-eminently in this country, expounded authoritatively, that very distinction from what could source could he ever have received it? To enact that the courts of the United States shall be bound by act of Congress, or by the Executive, according to circumstance, in all political questions, is to enact that they should do what they have already been commanded to do by the Constitution, and what they have in all cases done. But for Congress to assume to declare what questions are political questions, is not only to contradict Mr. Trumbull's own texts and authorities, but, necessarily to destroy, even in Mr. Trumbull's own head, all idea of the distinction itself; for that reputable lawyer would not deny, when he leaves the committee and goes before the Court, that if there is a question of law, it is the question whether or not a matter is judicial in its nature. If the half of this is true, the provision declaring in effect that certain States of the Union are not States, because Congress says so, although Congress may be mistaken, or may declare what is not true, becomes a beard; and the succeeding threats that the Executive and the judiciary shall not recognize them as States, become insulting to the co-ordinate branches of the Government, whose sworn duty it would be, should such abuses go into the form of law, to disregard them, except that should any one attempt to execute them in derogation of constitutional authority, he should be punished for treason.

In these accesses of periodical insanity to which States are subject, it has not unfrequently been attempted by the Legislature to dictate to the judiciary what they should decide, and to overawe them. Such attempts have rarely if ever succeeded; and none more bravely shameless has ever been made than that proposed by Mr. TRUMBULL'S bill. It even boldly proclaims it, whether as an enactment of the Legislative will, or as the judicial opinion of Congress, is not stated, that the Reconstruction acts are "political in character," and that no judicial tribunal is competent to question their validity. This is the drunken frenzy of a revolutionary mob embodied in Legislative enactment. Congress attempts what the Constitution declares impossible for it to do. It attempts to exercise judicial power, and to determine that particular questions are not judicial but political ones. It cannot even declare the meaning of a law previously enacted by itself, and bind the judges to follow its construction.

The Constitution declares itself to be the supreme law of the land. Every Judge of every Court, however humble, not only has, by the very nature of the judicial power, the right and power to decide, when individual rights depend upon the decision, whether a Statute is in conformity to the Constitution. The Intelligencer well says that, under Mr. TRUMBULL'S bill, Congress will command the Judges to disallow the law of the people, the Constitution, and execute the will of Congress in violation of the Constitution. This, it says, "is the reasoning of assassins."

And the admirable article from which we quote, thus concludes:

But what think the court of these projected assaults? Are the judges capable of hesitation as to what they should do when an attempt made thus to coerce them into a perjured subserviency to an unprincipled intrigue for partisan power, at the sacrifice of political institutions, the admiration of mankind, and the glory of the age?

How fallen the statesmanship which would contrive such a dishonor for what all enlightened men have recognized as the indispensable and only security of human rights—an independent judiciary; a truth so obvious that it broke through the dullness even of George III., who voluntarily recommended what has since gone into the British Constitution—a life tenure for the judges. How mournful to contrast with such scandalous measures the language of better days. Said Elias Boudinot, in 1808, in the House of Representatives:

"It has been objected, that by adopting the bill before us, we expose the measure to be considered and defeated by the judiciary of the United States, who may adjudge it to be contrary to the Constitution, and therefore void, and not lend their aid to carry it into execution. This gives me no uneasiness. I am so far from controverting this right in the judiciary, that it is my boast and confidence. It leads me to greater decision on all subjects of a constitutional nature, when I reflect that if, from inattention, want of precision, or any other defect, I

THE DOWNWARD PATH.

"Evil can never be outweighed. We may strive to atone, but we can never efface. All the coffer-dams we raise in our atonement cannot stay the rushing of the waters we have once let loose. If when evil begun, we knew where it would stretch, men's hands would be kept free from very dread of their own awful omnipotence to ruin."

There are men among the Jacobin leaders, who must, sometimes, in the silent watches of the night look regretfully back along the path of their lives, to the days when the Constitution was the lamp by which their feet were guided, and when they were not renegades from the cause of Constitutional liberty; and who also look shudderingly forward along that road to dark perdition, along which a fatal necessity, born of guilt and to end in shame, compels them to journey. One of these men must be Senator TRUMBULL, of Illinois, Chairman of the Judiciary Committee of the Senate, a lawyer once inspired with all a lawyer's reverence for the ancient landmarks of English liberty, but now the apologist for and the advocate of every excess of a mad Jacobinism. He is now engaged in co-operating with men whom he must despise, to make the Supreme Court powerless to protect the citizen against unconstitutional legislation, and has even made himself foremost in that evil work, by introducing a bill, which was then referred to that Committee, called by him "A bill to define the jurisdiction of the Courts of the United States in certain cases."

By the Constitution, the Supreme Court has appellate jurisdiction only, in sundry cases and controversies, to which that instrument declares that the judicial power shall extend. In all these cases, it is declared, "the Supreme Court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and fact, with such exceptions and under such regulations as the Congress shall make."

Now, whenever any such cases and controversies arise, under any statute whatever, or in any mode whatever, it is quite too evident even for shamelessness to deny, that, as the judicial power extends to them by the Constitution, Congress cannot detach it from them. In some Court, either inferior or Supreme, as the National Intelligencer says, with entire accuracy:

They must have day, be heard, considered, decided, and judgment rendered on them. Between the Supreme and the inferior courts, all such cases shall be adjudged; but (under certain restrictions) in which court they should be finally determined, was obviously a question to be considered in the formation of the inferior courts. Hence a power was lodged in Congress to make "exceptions and regulations"—i.e., to classify the litigation confided to the judiciary, so as to adapt it to a convenient distribution among the courts. A familiar example of this classification is between cases in which the sum in controversy exceeds two thousand dollars, and cases in which it is less. It is obvious that a classification of the statutes under which cases arise would be a different and a totally unwarranted classification.

If Congress should enact that all controversies between citizens relative to the same subject matter should be classified according to the different statutes under which similar cases should arise, that would not be making exceptions and regulations of cases, but of laws. A case is one thing. The law of a case is a different thing, and it is necessarily one thing; and as the law of any case—i.e., all the law together applicable to it—must be the same as the law of any other case which is like it, it follows that classifying litigation by statutes is not classifying cases, but making the law one thing for one case and a different thing for a like case. This is not equal, but unequal laws; or, in other words, no laws.

Now, Mr. Trumbull's bill, as we understand it, proposes to [illegible]

Government which can constitutionally prevent the operation of a wrong measure from affecting my constituents. I am legislating for a nation, and for thousands yet unborn; and it is the glory of the Constitution that there is a remedy for the failures even of the legislature itself."

MISSISSIPPI.

—The Mississippi State Journal, the Radical paper put up at Jackson to enjoy the "pap" of the scallawag convention, and disseminate unwholesome assertions and false dogmas under the guise of intelligence through the State, in its issue of the 18th, appeals for increased circulation in the following language: "Every one having the good of his country at heart, and wishing to contribute in some way toward keeping the control of the government in loyal hands, should remember that there is no way by which so much can be done as by placing a copy of the State Journal in the hands of all loyal voters." In the same number it calls for the suppression of papers that are edited with infinitely more candor, ability, energy and patriotism—that depend upon their truthfulness and manly character, and do not shrinkingly entreat that even this incendiary press shall receive a quietus. What so mean an object as this? "If General Meade would stop a few of these papers even the Democratic press would scarcely dare to talk about tyranny." Why stop at "a few?" Has not the "great revenge" of the State Journal "stomach for them all?" Its craven spirit doubtless reasoned from its own premises, that "a few" being stopped would strike terror to the hearts of all the rest. It is not probable that Gen. Meade, although he has been arbitrary in some matters of importance, will stoop to be the instrument of so mean a thing as offers him advice.

—The defeat of the Constitution in Alabama is the result of terrorism. The rebel papers insisted that the colored man who voted should be dismissed by his employer, and thousands were kept from the polls by the fear of losing their chance to earn a living.—Mississippi State Journal.

We have read the papers referred to with more than usual attention, from the fact that we regarded the election as of great significance and importance. Even Alabama papers advocating the adoption of the infamous Constitution admitted that there was no obstruction to the colored voters, but that they were allowed to come and go, and vote without impediment. They are not so mean and low and despicable as the Radical organ at the capital of Mississippi.

—The Mississippi State Journal, after stating that "terrorism" and the prospect of losing employment alarmed the negroes and defeated the Constitution, says: "But reconstruction cannot be thus defeated. Congress will pass the bill making a majority of the votes cast sufficient to ratify the Constitution in each State." What? In the teeth of its own act? When it distinctly required a majority not of the votes cast, but of all the registered voters? A more damnable piece of treachery and tyranny could not be suggested.

TENNESSEE.

—On Sunday afternoon, at Chattanooga, the boiler of an old locomotive used as a switch engine, exploded with great violence. The engineer and fireman escaped with but slight injury. A strip of iron, over two feet wide, was torn off from the centre of the boiler, and came in contact with a box car on the opposite track, completely demolishing it. The sand box, weighing over two hundred pounds, was blown a distance of four hundred yards, and fell in the river. The forward driving wheel was torn off its axle like so much paper. The bell was thrown fifty feet, and the main driver spring, weighing over one hundred pounds, was driven through a car. Portions of machinery lodged in every direction. Connecting rods, tubes and axles were bent or broken, and lay strewn on the ground.

—Somebody lost a large sum—more than $100,000—on the 24th at Chattanooga, which an employee of the hotel found and returned to the owner, who had neither thanks nor reward for the finder. Why did not the Union compliment the liberal gentleman by immortalizing his name?

—The dwelling of James Wallace, on Brown's creek, four miles from the city of Nashville, was burned on Saturday night.

—Martin and Harris, charged with the murder of young Brinckley, at Ashland City, have been found guilty of murder in the second degree, and sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary.

—Lieut. Wm. Porter of company M, 5th U. S. cavalry, stationed at Gallatin, Sumner county, met with a very severe if not fatal accident on Saturday last. It appears the command was celebrating Washington's birthday by the raising of a flag and firing of loaded anvils. One of the anvils being of cast iron, burst on its discharge, and a piece thereof struck the lieutenant on the left leg immediately below the knee, shattering the same in a frightful manner. It is not expected he will recover.

—It seems to be regarded as a fixed fact that the Tennessee river will be opened to Chattanooga, in view of which the State Legislature have just memorialized Congress to open a tri-weekly steamboat mail between that place and Knoxville.

GENERAL NEWS.

—The Marion (Ala.) Commonwealth publishes a list of the names of the ten white men in Perry county who voted in the late election. Of these eight were candidates.

—Speaking of the impeachment of the President and his suspension, which is probably by the Radicals of Congress, the Louisville Journal of the 26th says: "If this line of prosecution is followed, the trial plainly may consume the rest of the current Presidential term, and the object of impeachment will be thwarted, unless suspension is resorted to, in which event the President has declared that he will resist; so that in either case the revolution may encounter a check. Mr. Stevens' speech, if it truly foreshadows the scope of the prosecution, points to this result. Another indication is the calm and decisive message which the President has sent to the Senate in reply to its resolution denying his constitutional right to remove the Secretary of War and appoint one ad interim. It seems to us that so manly and triumphant a vindication of his action cannot fail to produce some good effect even on so bad a body as the Senate. The message in itself, we must think, is sufficient to give the Senate pause. And if the Senate pauses the revolution pauses. Finally, it is reported that several Senators, high in the trust of the majority, have already expressed their strong disgust at the spirit and manner in which the resolution of impeachment was put through the House, an expression which indicates that the 'sober second thought' is even now dawning upon the Senate. And this dawn may open into day. If it does, the candle of impeachment will be again smothered, and the revolution left to grope in the former courses. From all these indications we are disposed to think that the revolution has got over quite the smoothest part of its road."

—It is proposed to build a magnificent Opera House in Louisville. The organization of the company and subscription for the stock are being zealously carried forward. The auditorium is to have a depth of seventy-five feet, seventy-six feet wide and fifty-eight feet high; the stage sixty-five feet depth, forty feet wide and thirty-eight feet in height. The cost of the building is to be $125,000; McElfatrick & Wood, architects.

—The burglars of Wisconsin have invented a new mode of "prospecting" after family plate. They pretend to sell a patent burnishing powder, and offer to prove its efficacy on the spot. Of course the unsuspecting housekeeper brings forth the spoons, and, of course, the next night the amateur polisher steals them.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, February 27.—Mr. Merrick, as counsel for Gen. Thomas, has filed a declaration in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, bringing suit against Stanton for $150,000 for false imprisonment, and charging him, among other things, with "contriving and wickedly, falsely and maliciously intending to hurt, injure and aggrieve said plaintiff, without reasonable and probable cause."

The counsel of Gen. Thomas have decided to make an application for a writ quo warranto, before the District Court, for Stanton, to show cause why he retains the War Department.

Gen. Thomas called at the War Office about 11 a.m. to-day, and received his private mails, but proceeded immediately to the room of Gen. Schriver, where he remained sometime, and though Stanton was in the room at the time, nothing passed between them.

3. That he appointed Gen. Thomas as Secretary of War while there was another legal Secretary of War.

4. That he had conspired with Lorenzo Thomas to obtain possession of the War Office by military force.

5. That he had conspired with or endeavored to get an officer of the army to disobey the laws of his country and enter into a conspiracy to get the legal Secretary of War out of the office.

6. This article has not been completed. The committee do not take up any act of the President's prior to the removal of Stanton.

NEW YORK, February 27.—The Herald's special says the House impeachment Committee last night completed their charges against the President. It is said there will be six specific charges presented. The articles of impeachment, it is understood, have not as yet been voted upon by the Committee. Final action is expected to be taken to-morrow, unless some unlooked for contingency arises in the meantime.

APPEAL.}
27, 1868.
the just exe-
is not alone
In England
made, as to the
ch debtors are discharged liabilities and the costs in-the legal proceedings. At a recently convened in Liverpool to take into consideration the laxity of commercial morals, as evidenced by the flagrant cases of fraud then under examination in the Courts of Bankruptcy, it was even proposed to brand as criminal a trader who should be obliged to have recourse to that tribunal for an adjustment of his difficulties. Now, considering that in that country the Commissioner has the power to withhold the certificate in case of gross imprudence or fraud, thus rendering the debtor amenable to imprisonment; there is an appearance of undue severity in seeking to render bankruptcy a disgraceful crime. A committee were appointed to take the whole proceedings connected with the subject into consideration, and we have no doubt but that the resolutions emanating from that body will have great weight in remedying laws recognized as lax, expensive and inefficient. After ample discussion of the matter we have an excellent effect society, if not legally, but the vigilance of the mercantile profession in preventing fraud, and a due caution shown in granting credits will do more to uphold commercial morality than all the laws concerning bankruptcy that have ever been passed in Christendom.

We have no change to report in money matters. The offerings of Exchange on New York and other Eastern points hardly come up to the average, owing to the dullness of the cotton market, but rates are unchanged. Eastern Sight is taken at ½ to ¾c. discount and sold at par. New Orleans Sight ½ to ¾c discount buying, selling at 1-5 to ½c. premium.

Gold opened in New York at 140¾ and closed at 141¾. There was no transactions in this market worthy of note. Dealers buy at 139 to 140 for shipment or to fill orders, there being no counter demand.

City Scrip is dull. Brokers buying at 40@ selling at 41 to 45c for large and small pieces. Some street brokers to-day were offering 41c to regular dealers.

County Warrants are nominal. There is no demand. Buying at 50@, selling at 55c.

Police Scrip is in fair demand at 82 to 83c from dealers; selling at 85 to 90c.

The Liverpool cotton market was quiet at the opening to-day; Uplands, 9½d; Orleans, 9¾d. At noon the market was dull and lower; Uplands, 9¼d; Orleans, 9¾d; to arrive, 9¼d, and closed dull with sales of 8000 bales; Uplands, 9¼d; Orleans, 9⅝d; to arrive, 9¼d. The New York market was dull and nominal at the opening; at noon was dull and tending downwards, and at 2 p.m. was dull and lower; Low Middlings, 21 to 21½c; Middlings, 22c; Good Middlings, 23½c; Orleans, 22½ to 23c. At the close the market continued dull with quotations nominal and unchanged. Sales 950 bales. Our market was quiet and heavy all day. Sellers were asking 21 to 22c in the morning and several sales took place at the inside figures, while one list of over 300 bales Low Middling sold at 20½c, but at the close it would have been difficult to realize 20c for Middlings. Sellers were not urging sales except in a few cases, while speculators are not to be found. The only transactions effected are among those Leving orders to fill, and they are not at all in a hurry. Prices for the day have been irregular—so much so that we cannot give accurate quotations.

KAVANAGH & DECKER'S
BILLIARD TABLES
THE most reliable Cushion used on Billiard Tables is the
Cat-Gut Cushion,
Manufactured by KAVANAUGH & DECKER, and patented December 18, 1866. (See Scientific American, Vol. 15, No. 11.)
It is the only Cushion that possesses all the qualities essential to a Perfect Cushion. It is the most elastic and durable Cushion ever offered to the billiard-playing public, as is abundantly proven by the great demand for it since its introduction. The peculiarity which distinguishes the Cat-Gut Cushion and renders it superior to all others, is the heightened cord of cat-gut which overlies the face and edge of the rubber and running the full length of the Cushion, by which the rubber is firmly held down into the rubber and jumping from the tables is effectually prevented, the cord also adds much to the elasticity of the Cushion.
The Cat-Gut Cushion has already been applied to over 100 Tables, which are in constant use. It can be applied to tables of any number or size.
Kavanagh & Decker's Factory, at the corner of Centre and Canal streets, N. Y., is the most complete of its kind in the world. The machinery is of the most improved description, the lumber drying room the largest in the United States, the materials used the best that can be purchased, and the workmen thoroughly skilled.
Billiard Cloth, Balls, Cues and Trimmings, all of the best make, constantly on hand.
Kavanagh & Decker are the only agents in this country for Kay's Cue Cement adjudged by competent authorities to be the best Cement ever used.
Full size Tables cut down for $100.

NEW SCALE PIANO-FORTE.
GROVESTEEN & CO.,
499 Broadway, N. Y.,
THESE instruments, after the most flattering testimonials from the first Pianists in the country, who, at our solicitation, have tested them in the severest manner, are now pronounced THE FINEST SQUARE PIANO-FORTE MADE IN THE WORLD.
It has always been our policy, during the thirty-six years that we have manufactured Pianos, twelve thousand of which are now in use in the United States and Europe, to give the finest instrument at the lowest cost. Our superior facilities enable us to offer them from one to three hundred dollars less than any other first class House.
The tone of these instruments are remarkable for their peculiar Sweetness and Great Brilliancy, and their wonderful quality when forced to their utmost capacity. The touch is easier retaining its positiveness, does not fatigue the player, and supplies the means of meeting with them in disagreeable confusion, the difficulty of touching equally delightful to the unpracticed and to the most cultivated ear.
They are an entirely new style of Piano, finished in the most superb manner, with four full round corners front and back, carved rosewood legs and Lyre Serpentine tisse richly moulded, and each instrument is fully warranted for five years.

THE MEMPHIS APPEAL.

FOR 1868.

ALBERT PIKE
EDITOR.

JNO. AINSLIE,
Cashier and Business Manager.

THE MEMPHIS APPEAL, NOW IN ITS Twenty-Ninth Year, is offered to the reading public of Tennessee, Mississippi, Arkansas and Alabama, it is believed, with superior inducements to any that have ever been presented to its numerous and rapidly increasing patrons. The stagnation in financial movements, the almost total cessation of trade, the paralysis in agricultural operations and the anomalous condition of political affairs, instead of counselling to inaction and discouraging enterprise and energy, should arouse our people to redouble their exertions, to extend their enterprise, and to rely with greater confidence and higher resolve upon their own indomitable and unquenchable courage and purpose. If there ever was a time when the people should be

Fully Aroused and Wide Awake,

it is in such an emergency as the present. The temptation is strong to despair, and to surrender to the influence of fear and an almost overwhelming oppession. If we listen to the voice of the Siren and give up to despair, we are lost—irrecoverably lost. It behooves one and all to be up and doing, "with a heart for every fate, still achieving, still pursuing," until the book of our destiny shall be closed. We should hear of no compromise to make with the opposing genius of decay and destruction, which is seeking to drag us down. We should meet the enemy at every stage and wage an aggressive warfare upon him, until we expel him from the land. Poverty comes upon our beloved land and upon our patriotic people "like an armed man." Like "an armed man" we must assail him with the same will, determination and courage with which he marches upon our homes and hearthstones. In such an emergency,

THE NEWSPAPER

is the great and potent weapon with which we must carry on the campaign. We might as well at once surrender to the foe as to abandon this agency, which is, in fact, the artillery arm, both for defense and attack, in such a warfare. This great moral and political agent can only be rendered efficient and successful with the countenance, support and material assistance of the people. Never was there so cheap an aid employed to defend the right and to crush the oppressor. A people who are not willing to sustain an auxiliary which may be so potently used to defend their rights, and which can be employed at so inconsiderable an expense, are in the last stage of decrepitude and decline. And so an individual, who may be FOUND TO DECRY THE PRESS,

which in all free governments is known to be the most powerful lever, in the service of good government, must be either too imbecile for a freeman or too corrupt to receive the confidence and respect of his countrymen. It therefore happens that the people who sustain the Press with the greatest liberality and who rely upon its free utterance, with the highest confidence in its power to elicit the truth and defend the right, are always the freest and most independent people.

MEMPHIS APPEAL.

For the Memphis Appeal.
SUNSHINE AND CLOUDS.
BY JAMES H. SULLIVAN.

I stood on the street as the sun settled down
'Mid the gathering darkness of night,
And watched the oft varying hues of the sky,
The soft radiance, rosy and bright;
But e'en while I gazed, the dark clouds came to drown
All the roseate beaming of light.

As twilight approached, in the West rose a star
Twinkling bright, when the sun sank to rest,
And over the tree-tops and mountains afar
The moon rose on the fleecy clouds' breast,
But thunder rushed by in his deep, loud-voiced car,
And swept the gold tinge from the West.

I turned from the scene, and my lips breathed a sigh
As I thought how time ever rolls on,
Hopes brighten when nearest, but scarcely come nigh
Ere the brightest are withered and gone,
Like beautiful rays of a sun that is high,
And the darkness that follows the dawn.

We look to the future with hopes all aglow,
And pursue the rough pathway of life,
But storms overtake us, and, slaves, we must bow,
Or more manfully enter the strife,
For man must carve out his own path here below,
Where the thorns and the brambles are rife.

Yes, enter we must; but not all clad alike—
Some in purple and silks, some in rags,
Some born that will quail when the foeman shall strike,
And some forms that will stagger and reel,
And some that will fear not the sword or the pike,
That will ne'er to adversity kneel.

But why should we strive for the sunshine and flowers—
For the beauty that blooms 'neath the sky?
We struggle for years, but a moment 'tis ours,
For the form of earth must soon die;—
The bud that smells sweetest lives but a few hours,
And its fragrance is soonest to fly.

The most cherished hopes, when they're once realized,
Will a shade of despondency cast—
As troubles they seem coming to us disguised—
But withdrawn, how they brighten at last!
We mark not the beauty of scenes to be prized,
Till reviewed in the beautiful past.

I thought of the world of the living, but soon,
While I noted the varying scene,
The last glowing trace of the glimmering moon
And the last of the star-spangling sheen
Were wrapt in the darkness and gloom of night
With the red lightning dashing between.

I slept while the storm roared and raged in its might,
And the earth became drenched with the rain,
As sweetly and soundly through all that long night
As if never to waken again;
I awoke—all was changed; in the East was the light
Of the sun mirrored over the plain.

I thought and I peered through each cloud of my life,
Many beautiful rays clustered 'round,
And though the dark clouds had prevailed in the strife,
There were hallowed spots still to be found;
Though clouds overhead with forebodings are rife,
There's a haven of sunshine beyond.

THE RICHMOND.—That floating palace, the elegant steamer Richmond, will arrive this evening. The Ex-President of the late Confederate States and his family, are supposed to be on board. We hope the illustrious and honored party will remain with us for a short time at least.

INQUEST.—An inquest was held yesterday by Mr. Coroner Cotton on the body of Mr. J. T. Ragan, an employee of the Memphis City Transfer Company. He was about twenty-eight years of age. The jury found that the deceased died of disease of the heart. He had a room in the Jackson Block, on Main street.

ROBBING FROM A RESIDENCE.—The residence of Mr. Bumbiger was entered yesterday morning and a quantity of goods, the property of Mr. Bumbiger, stolen. A negro man named Caleb was arrested on the charge and will be examined before Justice Gibson to-day, when his guilt or innocence will be determined.

PERSONAL.—Major W. H. Rhea, formerly one of the editors and proprietors of the Avalanche, left last night by train for St. Louis, where he proposes to locate. A more genial and whole-souled gentleman than Major Rhea it has not been our fortune to meet with in our journalistic life. Wherever he may go he has the good wishes of the editors and proprietors of the APPEAL. May his career be not only long but prosperous.

A PARADE.—Yesterday afternoon our ——— the pleasure and benefit of citizens ha——— confidence man, beholding a note——— paraded known as "Cockeye Waru, through the street in charge of the Metropolitans, with large placards giving the name of the accused and the crimes of which he is alleged to be guilty. The course taken by Col. Beaumont in this case meets with our hearty approbation. Thieves and garroters should be known to the public.

SHAKER RUSSET POTATOES.—The above variety are said to be superior to anything of the potato kind at this season of the year. They are large, meally, and entirely free from all imperfections. It is said they preserve their good qualities till a new crop can be grown. If good stock is secured here for planting, we see no good reason why our horticulturists should not grow the vegetable for export North, fully a month or two in advance of those grown there. Every farmer should raise his own potatoes, and Memphis will be found a most advantageous shipping point. Now is the time to plant for an early crop.

REGISTRATION.—The Registrar Sears announced yesterday, before three o'clock p.m., that the registration of white people had ceased, although there were hundreds of applicants ready with the required vouchers, who were thus cut off from their constitutional rights. Up to the time of closing yesterday, it is understood, the registered were 3512 whites and 3391 negroes. To-day is set apart for the negroes, and it is altogether a sure thing that the contemplated fraud will be accomplished. A more bare-faced and unscrupulous, systematized effort to defraud the people of their voting privilege, was never perpetrated. We cannot understand how any man who expects to move among the people without receiving their execrations and contempt, could lend himself to such "base uses." But perhaps the Registrar has no such expectation, and was entirely content to be the instrument in the nefarious work. In old times "pipe-laying" was complained of when a few individuals of doubtful residence, were enabled, by complying with technical requirements, to cast their suffrages; what must be thought of this wholesale swindling, by which hundreds of citizens of well-known qualifications in every respect, are excluded by [illegible] of an [illegible]

AMUSEMENTS.

NEW MEMPHIS THEATER.—Last night, as usual, a large and brilliant assemblage attended this theater for the purpose of seeing the immense Black Crook. All present seemed to be highly delighted with the performance. It should not be forgotten that next week will end the Crook. On Monday night the people from LaGrange and other points on the Memphis and Charleston road will come in, and on Tuesday night the lovers of the play from Brownsville and intermediate points will be present. The train will arrive at 6:15 p.m., giving parties coming to town ample time for supper. There will be a grand matinee this afternoon. Performance to commence at one o'clock.

VARIETIES.—An entire change of programme, and new faces, form an attraction which is shown by increased houses. A combination of singing and dancing, with pleasing burlesques, keeps the audience in constant good humor.

Mardi Gras in New Orleans.

Having none of our own, we borrow a brief description of the grand celebration of Shrove-Tuesday from the New Orleans Bee:

"THE GRAND CARNIVAL OF MARDI GRAS—THE MYSTIC KREWE OF COMUS. There was an unusual display of maskers upon the streets yesterday—in point of numbers, the costumeing, however, being generally of the cheap order. Some genius personifying a "Brazilian Ape," attracted a good deal of attention and created no little sensation wherever he passed, by his characteristic antics, climbing awning posts, vaulting on street cars and scaling fences and running over balconies with surprising mimetic dexterity. The freed population relished the carnival hugely, and were perhaps most fully represented in the street festivities of the day. We noticed one carriage filled with dusky damsels, masked of course, but with their adust complexions unmistakably manifested by their but partially concealed necks and shoulders.

But all such incidents are not unusual of every recurring Mardi-Gras and we dismiss them with but a passing allusion, in order to come to the invariably grand feature of the day—the annual pageant of the Mystick Krewe of Comus. At about eight o'clock last evening their brilliant procession of some three or four hundred, or possibly five hundred persons, after emerging from some supposed mysterious quarter, cruised past our office, all gaily and more tastefully and uniquely masked than last season; about two hundred of them mounted, some on white, but the majority on black horses, and the rest walking, all characteristically dissembled with here and there an ingenious and admirable make up of elephants, and other odd forms, and fiend and grotesque animal and human, the whole strangely graced by woman's presence in the form of some half dozen ladies—the ladies of the Krewe of course—in splendid oriental attire, gracefully borne, some by the members in the procession, upon richly curtained and finely canopied sedans, and others on the cunningly devised elephantine figures, hundreds of brilliant transparencies illuminating the gorgeous pieces, and the best of music intensifying the magical effect to perfection—it was truly an inspiring spectacle.

But it was only after a study of the numerous devices, which like so many hieroglyphics do unravel mysteries and unfold tales of enchantment, that the romance of the weird semblances and strangely mixed guises and symbols were developed with the interest of a novel, and all the more fully appreciated after they had woven them together as so many threads to a story, and attempted to divine the significance, whether correctly or not, of the symbolically and literally speaking, splendid pageant of mowing, panoramic chapters and incidents, which though not perhaps so striking to the eye were vastly more expressive to the mental conception.

The tableaux we took to be so many imitation pictures from Tom Moore's Oriental poem, "Lalla Rookh," in which Lalla is made to describe a journey from Delhi, after her hand had been pledged in marriage to the youthful King of Bucharia, and she had sent forward an escort of some fifty cavaliers, clad in costly armor and bearing silver-mounted spears and battle-axes. The great chief of the Harem heads the procession, and the ladies of her court are magnificently housed in golden pavilions on the backs of elephants. Lalla, the Princess, of course, reclines while fanned by a female slave, in true Oriental ease and splendor, under the most gorgeous canopy of all, a young poet following faithfully by her side, indulging in dithyrambic verses suited to the mission of her journey, and actors are on a stage giving expression to the interpretation of their meaning.

After cruising around the city considerably to the wonder and admiration of thousands of citizens lining the streets and crowding every available gallery and window, Comus circled his crew into the Varieties Theater, where their other tableaux were equally studies and objects of interest—such as scenes from "The Veiled Prophet of Khorassan," including the administering of the oath forced upon the fair young "Zelica" in the charnel house, after being driven there fresh from the delightful revels, besides various representations from the exquisite poems of Milton, a scene from "The Fire Worshippers," the "Light of the Harem," and, as a grand finale, the scene representing "Lalla Rookh led to the throne of the King of Bucharia."

Presently the masks disappeared from every face, and the festivities of the dance in which so delights—

"The only rival flower of the rose—the human Fairest weight and lightest foot joy abundant woman."

CAUGHT.—A young negro mackerel, named Sam Freeman, managed to escape from the Police authorities, on the 24th. He was caught yesterday by officer Welch, charged with picking a negro's pocket of the sum of two dollars, and was lodged in the Adams street station house.

[illegible] REGISTRATION.—The registration of the citizens of Shelby county and Memphis city was suddenly brought to a close yesterday by Commissioner Sears, at 2 o'clock. Captain Sears announced in presence of over five hundred citizens that he would not receive any more lists of Conservative voters. Ex-Alderman T. O. Smith stated to the audience that he held in his hand two lists of Conservative citizens, vouched for by two Federal officers, amounting to three hundred citizens. Commissioner Sears refused to receive them. Mr. W. C. McClure, who has been attending to the interests of the Conservative party since the commencement of registration, also stated that he held in his hand lists properly vouched for, but the Commissioner refused to receive them. So soon as Commissioner Sears announced the registration of white citizens closed, Mr. W. C McClure rose and spoke as follows:

Gentlemen: The Commissioner of Registration has declared the registration of the white citizens of Shelby county and this city closed. I have labored assiduously in the cause of the Conservative party for the past two weeks, and will give it as my opinion that not more than one-half of the citizens of the county who are entitled to registration have received their certificates, and on behalf of the Conservative party I protested against the action of the Commissioner in closing the registration against white men.

Over one thousand persons left the registration office yesterday unable to obtain certificates, including soldiers and many prominent citizens.

FASTIDIOUS.—The local Bohemian of the Ledger don't like announcements in the papers of the determination of young men to commit matrimony. Of course, then, it is all wrong, and we hope that the thing will not be repeated, as it is in bad taste, unless it is made through the columns of the Ledger. He further says: "We suggest to bachelors who contemplate stepping outside the corporate limits, to assure their friends that they do not contemplate muffins and coffee for two." There is no necessity for this, as the people are always informed through the same channel of the departure of Peter Brown and the arrival of John Smith; also when the Crystal Palace sets a free lunch, and the Gayoso a shad breakfast. People should never, however, be provoked to "rhorious hilarity," unless it is through something appearing in the columns of our sight by ten evening cotemporary.

RIVER MATTERS.

WEATHER AND RIVERS.

Yesterday was clear and cool. The river at this point is falling very slowly or rather it was doing so last evening, but is no doubt at a stand now. Upper White river is falling, with five feet to Augusta, but it is rising toward the mouth, from the swell coming out of the Cache and Indian Bay. The Arkansas has two feet to Pine Bluff. Hence to Cairo there is plenty of water, but from Cairo to St. Louis there is only five and a half to six feet. The Ohio is rising, with strong indications of a regular coal boat tide.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The splendid U. S. mail packet Liberty, whereof Capt. Cable is master and handsome Harry is chief clerk, leaves to-day for White river, connecting at DeVall's Bluff with the train for Little Rock, and with steamers for Jacksonport and other points above. Mr. Sharp has charge of her freight matters.

The City of Cairo made her first appearance for lo! these many days, this morning. Capt. Bob Riley will back her out at 5 p.m. for Cairo and St. Louis. Mr. White has charge of the office.

The Belle Memphis, which should have been here a day or two ago, was detained by getting aground above Cairo. She will be in to-morrow.

The Bertha, Capt. Yerkes, will certainly leave to-day for Cairo and St. Louis. She reshipped her Arkansas freight on the Gleaner, and will get away at 5 p.m.

The Gleaner, the queen packet of the Arkansas line, leaves on Monday for Pine Bluff. Harrison Blaisdell will command, and Garrett Huis, with Sam Wood, go in the office.

The wharf boat of the Memphis and St. Louis Packet Company has been repainted and put in complete order for the spring business.

Capt. John N. Boffinger, Superintendent of the Atlantic and Mississippi Steamship Company, arrived in this city yesterday on a flying trip. He reports business in St. Louis moderately active, with freights very low, and all the steamers of the line in thorough order from kelson to chimney top, ready for the spring campaign just about opening. The company has spent large sums of money putting their steamers in repair, and propose to make even the barge line stand from under in the way of cheap freights.

Capt. Nat Green, who has been on a visit to Washington, who was feted by A. J., and had some difficulty in declining the position of Secretary of War, tendered him by the President, returned yesterday, and declares that the atmosphere of Memphis, though tinged with the order of Rads, is still pure when compared with that which envelopes Stevens, Sumner, Wade, et id.

The elegant low-pressure Richmond, Capt. J. Stut Neal, with Mr. Woolfolk in the office, will pass up this evening on her way to Louisville. She is the passenger packet par excellence, and makes railroad time.

Capt. Kerr has sold one-half of the Goldfinch to parties in Evansville, who will put her in the trade from that port to the Cumberland river.

The Liberty brought from White river 737 bales of cotton, about ten tons of oil-stone, and a good passenger trip.

The Mayflower got away last night for Evansville. She had 600 bales of cotton engaged, but did not get that amount.

The Sam Hale departed for Cincinnati with about 1008 bales.

The Emperor did not get away until last night. She had a full cargo of cotton, amounting to 1166 bales.

Monday afternoon a difficulty occurred on board of the steamer St. Charles, lying at Portland, between two of the hands employed on the boat, Chris. Sullivan and John McConnell, in which the left ear of the latter was bitten off.

In Portland, Maine, there has been built a race boat of paper, "papier mache," we suppose. It is thirty-one and a half feet long, twelve inches wide, and weighs but twenty-two pounds. The lightest wooden boat of similar dimensions would weigh forty-one pounds. The most singular part of the matter is that the paper boat is four times stronger than one of wood. All that portion save where the sculler sits, is gas-tight, so that in the event of a race sufficient gas may be injected into it to reduce its weight to eight pounds. A man pulling in a boat weighing but eight pounds is something to think of with astonishment.

The Quincy Herald says of the breaking up of the ice at that point: There was no crash on this occasion, and lookers spectators, drawn to the bluffs and levee to witness the opening of the river, were disappointed at the scene. Usually, the breaking up of the ice in the Mississippi, after a severe winter, is an event of no little moment. There is usually a rise in the river, which forces the ice sounder with a powerful shock and a thunder-like noise, after which it goes crashing and crumbling with the rapid current, and presents a magnificent sight along the banks on either side. It often comes against our levee with such terrific force as to pile upwards of thirty feet high. This year there was none of this. When the ice started from its winter moorings yesterday it passed along our river [illegible] tranquility as though it were part of the smooth current of the river.

FURNISHING G

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY APPEAL, MEMPHIS, February 28, 1868.

The Exchange market is very quiet and currency easy. Commercial Paper has been, as a general thing, neglected by our discount houses, and the offerings of cotton bills in consequence of the heavy condition of that market have been limited for several days. The buying rates are steady at ½ to ¾ discount on New York, New Orleans, and all points North and East; selling at par except on New Orleans, which is firm at 1-5 to ¼ premium.

Gold opened to-day in New York at 141¼ and closed at 141½. There was a better counter demand for coin to-day in this market and brokers find no difficulty in disposing of all offered. Buying at 139 to 140; selling at 141 to 142.

Police Scrip is quiet with a light supply upon the market. Brokers buy at 82 to 83c readily, and sell at 86 to 90c as to amount.

County Warrants are dull. There is the same feeling of distrust concerning them which has existed since the action of the county officers in reference to the loose manner in which they issue these Warrants has been made public. This lack of confidence will continue while our county affairs remain in the hands of men in whom the people have no confidence and who seem to be as lavish of the credit of the county as they are in themselves irresponsible. Taxpayers buy just what they need for immediate use and brokers are very shy. The buying rate is nominal at 50c; selling at 55 to 60c.

The feeling in City Scrip is becoming stronger. Small pieces have been about all used up and are in active demand at from 5 to 10c above the buying rate for large amounts. Brokers all claim to be short and are not disposed to sell. Street dealers offer 41 to 42c, but are unable to buy. Pieces ranging from $100 to $500 can be bought at 44 to 45c, but are not freely offered.

The aggregate of wheat and flour imported into Great Britain in the year covered by the last annual Board of Trade returns was 29,941,588 quintals, of 112 pounds. Of this quantity Russia furnished about thirty-five per cent., the North German Union twenty-nine per cent., France ten per cent., United States nearly six per cent., Turkey five per cent., Denmark two per cent., Egypt two-tenths of one per cent., and all other countries nearly twelve per cent. It will be seen that the United States supplies but a very small proportion of these staples to Great Britain.

The Liverpool cotton market was dull at the opening to-day: Uplands, 9¾d; Orleans, 9¾d. It immediately declined ¼d with Uplands to arrive at 8¾d. At the close another decline of ¼d was reported; Uplands, 9¼d; Orleans, 9¼d; other grades unchanged; sales for the day, 8000 bales; week's sales, 57,000, of which 9000 was taken for export and 7000 by speculators; stock, 229,000 of which 167,000 is American. In New York holders were asking an advance at the opening but buyers were cautious; Middlings, 22¾c; Orleans, 23¼ to 23½c. At noon the market was quiet but firm. The cable news had a depressing effect and at 2 p.m. prices were lower; Middlings, 22c; Orleans, 22¾ to 23c. At 4 p.m. the market was very dull and unsettled with Middlings scarce; they were held at 22c, while lower grades declined ¼c. No sales are given. Our market, which had some better feeling inspired into it by the early news from New York, was dull during the day. Buyers were cautious, as were their counterpart in New York, while sellers were a little "offish," thinking that later advices would justify holding off. They were much disappointed as the market closed very dull with a tendency to still lower rates. The sales were not such as would do to base quotations on, being irregular and very scattering. Holders were asking 21c while buyers at the close would not take hold at 20c, which was their offering rate earlier in the day.

$34,500 IN PREMIUMS.

NUMBER of PRIZES, 25.

CERTIFICATES, $5 EACH.

A Fortune or a Homestead for $5.

CAPITAL PRIZE VALUED AT $20,000 00

Which amount has recently been offered for the Springs and Grounds immediately surrounding.

PRIZE NO. 1.

The celebrated Raleigh Mineral Springs, situated on the confines of Raleigh, late County Seat of Shelby county, Tenn., nine miles north of Memphis, and two miles from Wells' station, on the Memphis and Louisville Railroad. These Springs are six and number, of various medicinal and medicinal qualities, and are visited every Summer by thousands of persons from all parts of health and pleasure, from all quarters of the country. They are within a few steps of the village of Raleigh, in a beautiful valley, and within a few hundred feet of Wolf river, which winds around the base of the eminence on which the village of Raleigh is situated, and empties into the "Father of Waters" at Memphis. Numerous remarkable cures of various diseases, have been experienced by sojourners at this health-inspiring retreat, and the present proprietor, Col. J. M. Coleman, has procured hundreds of certificates of cures in cases which had been entirely given over by medical skill. The ground surrounding the springs, and in fact the entire village of Raleigh, rises to an eminence of pure air, and is as healthy for its residence as beauty of location. The Springs are in fine order, never failing, and are designated as follows:

MARBLE SPRING,
BOX SPRING,
MAGNOLIA SPRING,
ARSENIC SPRING,
and SULPHUR SPRING,
FREESTONE SPRING.

The place has never been visited by epidemic of any kind, and peculiarly characteristic of healthfulness is the longevity of the inhabitants. The largest numbers of Shelby county are residents of Raleigh.

The Springs are as much resorted to by pleasure seekers as for health. Nowhere can be found scenery and variousartificial as well as natural attractions, connected with the Springs are a Pavilion, Ladies' Bow ling Alley, Saloon, Reading Saloon, Gents' Bowling Alley, Saloon, Billiard Saloon, Ten Pin Alley, Quoit Alley, Dancing Tables, etc., while Wolf river affords excellent Boating and Fishing.

The Hotel accompanying the Springs, in the above scheme and included in the First Prize, is the largest and most commodious in the village and affords in addition to a magnificent view, a grand hotel and other buildings; splendid Ballroom for a park, promenades, etc.

An analysis of the several Springs, by distinguished medical men, shows that they are unsurpassed in mineral and curative properties by any in the United States. There is no reason why Raleigh should not become as famous as a saratoga, Sharon or Lebanon, and as largely patronized. It needs only capital and enterprise to make Raleigh such.

A charter is before the State Legislature for the incorporation of the Springs, and a movement has been inaugurated looking to direct rail communication with Memphis.

For this purpose the one thousand prizes recently offered which was deemed in order that the above scheme may be fully carried out.

PRIZE NO 2.

The elegant country dwelling house and lot residence of Col. J. M. Coleman is within a few rods of the Springs. The house is in first class order, contains 10 rooms and is beautifully embowered in shrubbery. The lot is well fenced and ornamented with fine shade and fruit trees, and affords all necessary out-houses, cisterns, etc. It is midway between the village and Spring Valley, on the main pronounceable. Value $3000.

PRIZE NO. 3.

One thousand dollars in cash.

PRIZE NO. 4 TO 25.

Twenty-two cottage lots valued at $250 each. These lots are a portion of the village of Raleigh, delightfully situated, fronting on three outshores and will be drawn with the underground privilege of a water main which have recently been laid to the Springs and belongings.

KAVANAGH & DECKER'S

BILLIARD TABLES

THE most reliable Cushion used on Billiard Tables is the

Cat-Gut Cushion,

Manufactured by KAVANAUGH & DECKER, and patented December 18, 1866. (See Scientific American, Vol. 16, page 4, Supplement.)

It is the only Cushion that possesses all the qualities necessary to a perfect Cushion. It is the most elastic and most durable Cushion ever offered to the billiard-playing public, as it abundantly proves by the demand for it since its introduction. The peculiarity which distinguishes the Cat-Gut Cushion and renders it superior to all others, is the interlaced cord of cat-gut which overlies the face and edge of the Cushion, and running the full length of the Cushion, which prevents the ball from bedding into the rubber and jumping from the tables to a certainty, and the manufacturers also adds much to the elasticity of the Cushion.

The Cat-Gut Cushion has already been applied to over 1000 tables in the course of its use. It can be applied to tables of any make, for $75 per set.

Cavanagh & Decker's Factory, at the corner of Centre and Canal streets, N. Y., is the most complete of its kind in the world. The machinery is of the most improved character, the number of steam power the largest in the United States, the material used the best that can be purchased, and the workmen thoroughly skilled.

Billiard Cloth, Balls, Cues and Trimmings, all of the best make, constantly on hand.

Kavanagh & Decker are the only agents in this country for Kay's Cue Cement adjudged by competent authorities to be the best Cement ever used.

Full size Tables cut down for $100.

Our Latest Improved

NEW SCALE PIANO-FORTE.

GROVESTEEN & CO.,

499 Broadway, N. Y.,

Have testimonials from the first Pianists in the country, and, our solicitation, have tested them in the severest manner possible, have been pronounced THE FINEST SQUARE PIANO-FORTE MADE IN THE WORLD.

It has always been our policy, during the thirty-six years that we have manufactured Pianos, twelve thousand of which are now in use in the United States and Europe, to give the finest instrument at the lowest cost. Our superior facilities enable us to offer Pianos for not to three hundred dollars less than any other first class House.

The tone of these instruments are remarkable for their peculiar Sweetness and Great Brilliancy, never before their quality so long forced to their utmost capacity. The lower register retaining its peculiar sweetness, does not destroy the middle and upper registers by unlocking them in disagreeable confusion, the refined beauty of the tone running on unbroken from the unpracticed and to the most cultivated ear.

They are an entirely new style of Piano, finished in the most superb manner, with fine pull round corners front and back, heavily carved legs and lyre, serpentine Base richly moulded, and each instrument is fully warranted for five years. sep5 dawly

MISS E. WATSON, MONTHLY AND for the sick, may be A

MEMPHIS APPEAL.

FOR 1868.

ALBERT PIKE

EDITOR.

JNO. AINSLIE,

Cashier and Business Manager.

THE MEMPHIS APPEAL, NOW IN ITS Twenty-Ninth Year, is offered to the reading public of Tennessee, Mississippi, Arkansas and Alabama, it is believed, with superior inducements to any that have ever been presented to its numerous and rapidly increasing patrons. The stagnation in financial movements, the almost total cessation of trade, the paralysis in agricultural operations and the anomalous condition of political affairs, instead of counselling to inaction and discouraging enterprise and energy, should arouse our people to redouble their exertions, to extend their enterprise, and to rely with greater confidence and higher resolve upon their own indomitable and unquenchable courage and purpose. If there ever was a time when the people should be

Fully Aroused and Wide Awake,

it is in such an emergency as the present. The temptation is strong to despair, and to surrender to the influence of fear and an almost overwhelming oppression. If we listen to the voice of the Siren and give up to despair, we are lost—irrecoverably lost. It behooves one and all to be up and doing, "with a heart for every fate, still achieving, still pursuing," until the book of our destiny shall be closed. We should hear of no compromise to make with the opposing genius of decay and destruction, which is seeking to drag us down. We should meet the enemy at every stage and wage an aggressive warfare upon him, until we expel him from the land. Poverty comes upon our beloved land and upon our patriotic people "like an armed man." Like "an armed man" we must assail him—with the same will, determination and courage with which he marches upon our homes and hearthstones. In such an emergency,

THE MEMPHIS APPEAL

BY TELEGRAPH.

Noon Dispatches.

NEW YORK, February 28.—The Herald's Washington dispatches state that it is not believed a two-thirds vote against the President can be obtained in the Senate.

The Herald's London dispatch states that at a meeting Tuesday evening, John Bright spoke strongly in favor of the government, policy and power of the American people, and of England's duty to cultivate friendly relations with them. If the British Government and English press had acted rightly during the late war in America, no power on earth could have alienated the two nations in feeling, or separated them in interest. Bright expressed his firm belief that all prominent questions of difficulty between the two countries would be amicably settled.

Rev. Newman Hall stated the nature and probable extent of the Alabama claims, showing that England was completely in the wrong. Although the people of the United States waived and appeared to postpone the matter, the subject of the Alabama claims would in a short time be revived unless the bill was paid. He would advise the settlement by arbitration, in the manner proposed by or agreed to by the United States.

The following resolution was proposed:

"Resolved, That this meeting express the most hearty good will to America, and pledge itself to support our Government in its efforts to effect a prompt interview and pacific settlement of the international differences, especially those connected with the Alabama claim question."

The resolution was adopted unanimously, amid loud cheers, with every person in the hall standing.

A Havana special to the Herald states that the accounts from Mexico say a conspiracy had been discovered to assassinate Juarez and rob the Treasury. Several foreigners had been arrested, with Lieut.-Col. Estars, who was on guard duty with other officers. A pronunciamento of the officers of the Seventh Regiment, who guarded the National Palace, failed, as well as the assassination scheme, which was to have been carried out at the theater. The whole affair was planned by two Mexicans, who are now in Havana.
